

Citizen Science & Libraries: Information about Plastic Pollution

Contribute to real scientific research about plastic pollution with the Debris Tracker citizen science project.

Learn more about an event featuring Debris Tracker.

MedlinePlus

MedlinePlus provides information for the public on health topics, medication and supplements, genetics and more. MedlinePlus provides resources to get started learning about the environment's impact on our health.

Available in English and Spanish.

Kids Environment, Kids Health

Kids Environment, Kids Health, created by the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, provides fun and educational materials for kids on health, the environment, and science.

The site provides games, coloring pages, information, lesson plans, and other activities.

Available in English.

Impact of Plastic Pollution

Produced for World Environment Day, this interactive website describes the increase in plastic pollution and the impact of plastic pollution on our environment and health.

Available in multiple languages.

Learn more about Debris Tracker

Want to learn more about Debris Tracker? National Geographic's Debris Tracker SciStarter page includes articles, videos, a journal and more.

Available in English.